

Accessing Purple Mash at home

Purple Mash is a fantastic resource that we use at Milby to support not only the computing curriculum but a vast array of other subjects including: reading, phonics, spelling, maths, art, music and more.

The reading section is particularly helpful as it allows families to access hundreds of appropriately-aged books. It provides not only interesting books but also reading support and comprehension quizzes.

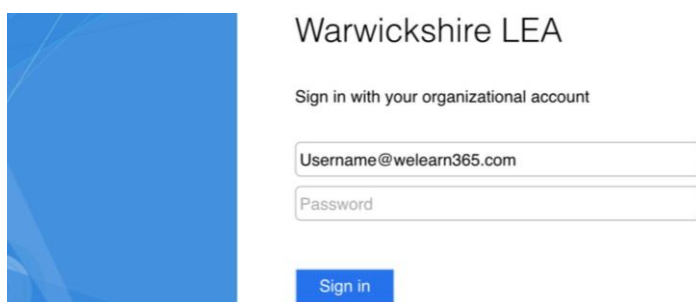

To access Purple Mash at home, there is a very specific process that must be followed :

1. In the address bar of your chosen search engine, type in : welearn365.com
2. Choose Milby Primary School from the list.

3. You then need your child's login details. However, you must also include @welearn365.com at the end of their username.

For example : username@welearn365.com

4. Once you have logged in, it will take you to our school's page. Simply locate the Purple Mash button. From there you can access the wide array of incredible resources. If you choose to use the reading section, click on the button and then you can use Serial Mash or read the DK books.
